Beyond the Bell - After School Teen Homework Club

Often when middle schoolers get around to starting their homework, distractions from television, video games, and social media make studying a challenge, especially when parents are at work and not available to assist with homework. Beyond the Bell is a fun, safe place for teens to go after school. We offer a perfect combination of structured homework time with trained tutors, followed by time to just hang out and socialize with friends.

Transportation is provided from all RRPS middle schools to the Star Heights Community Center. Middle schoolers enjoy a snack and a few minutes of free time before jumping into their homework where trained tutors are available to assist with homework. Computers and printers are available for students to access PowerSchool. Staff does not have access to PowerSchool, nor do they follow up with teachers on assignments. Once their homework is done, students can play board games, play in the park, or compete in friendly sports activities.

Middle-schoolers in this program receive general academic help and/or homework assistance. Students are expected to be fully prepared and bring the following items to the Homework Club including homework, textbooks, calculator (if needed), notebook, writing utensils, etc. Our tutors/staff will provide assistance, explanation, and clarification. Tutors will NOT do the homework for the student, write their paper or give them the answers. Parents and students must understand and agree that tutoring will not necessarily result in perfect work and does not guarantee an "A" or a passing grade. Success at school is dependent on the student implementing sound study strategies and putting in the needed effort, not on the tutor. We're just here to help.

- Fall session starts August 19 to December 13
- (No class during City of Rio Rancho holidays and RRPS closures)
- Monday through Friday after school til 6:00 PM
- Star Heights Recreation Center
